

TOWN COUNCIL DISCUSSES THE VACANT HOSPITAL

Want To See It Opened But Don't Know How To Do It

The opening of the new municipal hospital came up for a good deal of discussion at the Council meeting on Monday night, and the way Alderman Connolly described the building, its equipment and its surroundings, in an effort to induce the other members of the Council to see his way, would put a poor laureate or a Philadelphia lawyer to shame. Connolly didn't argue so much, because all the Councilors were agreed that the place should be opened, but he described the building in such lively and superlative language that one would dream of a positive luxury to get into the building to get an appendix removed, an arm amputated or a crooked brain twisted around.

Councillor Connolly thought it a shame that this most up-to-date building with its grand water and sewer systems, its luxuriant chairs, its magnificent wards, its voluptuous beds, its wide space of grounds outside, its vest of free air, that all its other charms and graces should remain closed. "Save one life," he said, "and it is worth while opening it."

The other councillors had talked with the doctor and doctors in town, but none of them since the building was completed would go near the building. Before it was built, it was intimated that the doctors were ready to do almost anything to get into the building, but now times were changed, and with the times the doctors claimed the right to change their minds too. Connolly suggested that a charge be secured if possible and placed in care, Travis would offer it to the military authorities, having never yet been all of a hospital, saying, and the arguments were on and on how so thick and fast that Mayor Flanagan shut off the argument with a "well, let's bring it to a head by some kind of a motion."

A motion was then passed that the whole matter be left in the hands of the hospital committee.

The Calgary Council deputized their lawyer to write Bassano submitting a cheque for $105 and some cents in payment of chloride of lime for purifying the town water, and without prejudice and to avoid a controversy on such a trivial matter, he suggested that the town had misinterpreted Mayor Connolly in his recent visit here. The Council, regarded as a huge grin at this "without prejudice" stuff. The Council "without prejudice," laid the matter over.

How, C. R. Mitchell's "now" seems anxious to fix up the roads round town wrote for some information and will be furnished same.

The elevators petitioned for a light on the street near the buildings and a motion was made by Connolly, seconded by Travis, that the light at the corner of 5th Street and 3rd Ave. be moved to a point selected by the town engineer to best serve the elevators.

The Voters' List as prepared was adopted as the 1916 Voters' List, there being no appeals or complaints.

The question of appointing a delegate to go to the Municipal convention at Edmonton, came up. Secretary Bond couldn't get away, Councillor McKee couldn't get away, Councillor Travis couldn't get away, Councillor Flanagan wouldn't get away, Mayor Flanagan didn't say himself. The Council, after the other had been set not suggested to get away, and so Bassano will not be represented.

The matter of the cancellation of the Melrose subdivision was left with the finance committee with power to act, and a report re the Robergton and McCullum estates was accepted.

A bylaw was passed appointing G. B. R. Bond returning officer at the coming municipal elections and selecting the town hall as the place of nomination and polling.

Last week The Mail noted that a reader had subscribed through its columns $2 to The Herald Tobacco Fund. This generous subscriber was Geo. Murdoch, mention of whose name was inadvertently omitted last issue. George believes that a smoke is good for the boys in the trenches.

COMMUNICATION

The Mail does not hold itself responsible to opine expressed by its correspondents.

Editor, Bassano Mail:—
A receipt from the Bassano Mail, tells the cheerful information that the Bassano Town Council had just received word from the Minister of the Interior that the lease south of Bassano would not be thrown open for settlement. As a reason for this the Minister states, that the department is always governed by the report of the ranch inspector and, as that gentleman has reported the lease fit for grazing only it matters little what anybody else says. So there you are.

Some ten years ago, when this part of the country was a howling wilderness, when every ranch proclaimed upon its word and honor that the whole territory was unfit for grain raising that you could not even raise potatoes on it, some ranch inspector set aside several townships, of which he considered the roughest part of it, for the purpose of leasing to F. Burns and others. Since then the country on the northwest and south side of the lease has been homesteaded and farmed and has proven to be the garden spot of Alberta, so far as ranch raising goes. As there has practically never been a crop failure.

Farmers living all around this lease, who have had occasion to pass through it time and again, have all testified that the lease was all good agricultural land and eligible for settlement. In petition for having it thrown open. Friends and relatives of farmers living around the lease have come here, walked and worked in the district in the hope that the lease would be thrown open, and that they would be able to get a homestead in it. But all this for nothing with the Dominion government as the ranch inspector who perhaps never turned a furrow in his life, perhaps only in a dream, has stated that this land was fit for grazing only. It doesn't look reasonable to any thinking man and "there must be a niggle in the words somewhere," said the nigger is simply this, "that the ranching element has something to say to the Government while the farmers don't."

But such action by the government is hardly helping much to kindle the flame of patriotism among the people who have come here to seek homes as an instance will show.

A short time ago one of these people, a man with a family who has been waiting several years to get a homestead on the lease, was approached by a recruiting officer in Bassano, and asked to enlist. The man answered, that he would not provide the government would give him a homestead in the lease, otherwise he would not do his land nothing to defend or fight for.

Of course it is true enough that there is still lots of land away up north that can be homesteaded. But any one who has been living here a number of years knows that while Alberta as a whole, is a good province, there are great difficulties in the various districts. Some districts are subject to drought, either to hail or frost or are too wet, and the man who takes up a homestead in a wet, unwatered district takes his chance.

On the other hand the land surrounding the lease has been tried and found to be one of the best districts in Alberta, and no wonder that those people, seeing how their friends have prospered, are anxious to get a piece of that land. But no says the government it is better that it should go to those who have a couple of men made to give up the lease which after all is used very little.

After all this may be a blessing in disguise, it should arouse the farmers to teach them that it is about time they had a little to say about the government of this country. J. Giambeck

BASSANO DOES WELL FOR THE PATRIOTIC FUND

Donations Are Coming In Fine
And Last Year's Record Will Be Broken

That Bassano and immediate district will do well by the Canadian Patriotic Fund this year is borne out by the work already accomplished by the local committee. The cash already actually collected is over half the amount that the total of last year reached, the promises if reduced will more than make up the balance, and still practically only those who are available by personal appeal have responded to the call.

The secretary of the local committee announces that the total cash already received is $867.50, which has been collected from approximately 72 contributors. Added to this are promises of $800 to $800 more, which is payable by April 1st of next year. These two items alone will make a total of close on to $1600, and there are no doubt a lot of people who have neither given in cash nor promised to do so, who will come through before the financial year of the Fund closes.

Last year the amount allotted to the whole constituency of Bow Valley was $1,000, but the total amount actually raised was over $8,000, more than twice the amount asked. Of this amount Bassano and immediate district raised $1,300.

The committee feel certain that the $4,000 asked from this constituency this year will be overbooked in at least the same proportion as was the allotment of last year.

PARCELS FOR PRISONERS

The Post Office Department has been notified by the British Post Office that many parcels sent from Canada to prisoners of war in Germany are being received in London in a damaged condition, and frequently they have to be repacked before they can be forwarded to Holland for transmission to Germany. The British Post Office adds that in most cases the damage appears to be due to the fact that the parcels were inadequately packed by the senders.

The public are warned, therefore, that parcels for prisoners of war, unless they are very strongly packed, will probably arrive in such a condition as to be of little or no use to the recipients.

Ordinary thin cardboard boxes, such as shoe-boxes, and thin wooden boxes should not be used; nor does a single sheet of ordinary brown paper afford sufficient protection. Even where proper materials are used, it is important that the contents should be tightly packed so as not to shake about during transit. The following forms of packing are recommended:

1. Strong double cardboard or straw-board boxes. Those made of corrugated cardboard and having lids which completely enclose the sides of the box are the most suitable.
2. Tin boxes such as are used for packing biscuits.
3. Strong wooden boxes.
4. Several folds of stout packing paper.

The British authorities advise that parcels for prisoners of war in Germany must not be wrapped in linen, calico, canvas, or any other textile material.

Parcels posted in Canada for prisoners of war in Germany which have not been adequately packed by the senders will not be forwarded but will be returned to the senders, as the British Post Office has notified the Department that parcels which are inadequately packed must be returned to the senders.

S. L. Talkington will offer a bunch of horses and a lot of farm implements for sale by auction on Saturday, Nov. 25th.

CLEVER ARTISTES

One of the most delightful recitals that ever graced the Gem Theatre was given last night when Miss M. Thelma Muir, an accomplished and brilliant pianist, assisted by Miss Freda O'Brien, a vocalist, held a large audience in rapt attention by their unusual talent for over an hour.

The recital may in every sense of the word be termed high-class, the numbers chosen by Miss Muir being of a character to display a scope of artistic ability that was truly wonderful, while Miss O'Brien in her readings treated both the grave and the gay with such delicacy of intonation that no doubt remained in the minds of the audience of her ability to do justice to the most exacting lines demanded of a finished elocutionist.

Miss Muir's first number "Beethoven's Themes and Variations F. Major," a selection making unusual demands upon a pianist, was rendered with marked ability, the different movements standing out so prominently and yet so gracefully blended, that a perfect score theme was embodied. In this number Miss Muir showed delicacy of touch and fluency of execution that at once made her a favorite with the audience.

In her reading of the scene from "The Cretion on The Heath" (Bjornsen) a monologue with numerous characters, Miss O'Brien exhibited such a bond of sympathy with her work, that her hearers might easily imagine the characters all present, while her lighter and humorous numbers were given that delicate touch which appeals to the risible faculty of the truly refined.

Miss Muir's other numbers only tended to accentuate the fact that in her is a talent, innate and truly developed through a course of training, which will eventually place her before the public as an artist of superior ability.

A fairly large audience was present at Manager Torgan's recital of the programme with several reels of motion pictures.

NEW MILITARY UNIT

Among the new military units, which are being organized in Eastern Canada, one is attracting more attention or obtaining more recruits than the new Kilted-Highland Regiment under the command of Col. Guthrie.

Col. Guthrie was a Major in the "Fighting Tenth," of which unit Calgary and Western Canada is deservedly very proud, and was very seriously wounded when the 10th were practically wiped out. He has now recovered and has been given command of the new Highland Regiment. He has associated with him several of the officers of the 10th, who were returned wounded but are fit for duty again.

A company of the Highland Regiment is to be recruited in Western Canada. It is called the "Beatty Company," because Mr. E. W. Beatty, Vice-President & general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, has contributed the sum required to thoroughly equip this company.

Col. Guthrie, it is understood, proposes opening recruiting offices in the west, as soon as possible to obtain recruits, and this company in particular, will appeal to all Scotchmen, or others, who desire to go to the front under officers who have already made a name in the fighting line and as members of a Kilted Highland regiment.

H. E. Matthews of the Matthews Music house in Calgary, was here this week tuning pianos in town and surrounding country, and incidentally made a news in the lighting line and as members of a job printers at the same time.

PANDORA

Thrashing is getting nearly all completed in the district, and two more weeks of good weather will just about make the thrashing job to complete their run. The yield is turning out good and forty bushels of wheat and in some cases this, is not uncommon this year.

The thrashing rigs have had some trouble securing bundle teams this fall, and in one instance only managed to get the help by having each farmer put in a few days on the bundle team previous to thrashing his grain. If he did not then threatened not to thrash him, but usually the threat was not required.

E. G. Harborth, the postmaster at Pandora, has sold his store and also leased his home. He expects to auction off his goods and chattels on the 18th inst. This time the report is correct and the new proprietor takes possession on the 20th inst.

St. Basil and J. B. McCollum of the district looking for recruits, but were not very successful. Practically all the eligible men would enlist voluntarily have already signed up, and quite some other system of securing men is devised, containing all over the province, will be practically at a standstill.

The weather has been good for the past two weeks, although there has been a little too much wind to please the thrashers. Work in the field is still being done, but any day now it may freeze hard enough to stop this.

PRAIRIE FIRE

A prairie fire which started at the gravel pit east of the town where Chinese were cooking their rice for their mid-day meal, swept north on Saturday afternoon until within a few miles of the Gem Colony. Fortunately Mounted Policemen Taylor took the situation in hand and after pressing several townspeople into the service, the fire was put out.

The Chinamen are employed tearing up the track at the gravel pit, and it is reported one or two of them spent Saturday night on the prairie, although an attempt was made to gather them all in to a place of safety and comfort.

GUN TO BE RAFFLED

The Mail was in error last week in stating that the gun donated by O. L. Douglas to be raffled off for Patriotic purposes, was the gun used by his son, the late Deane Douglas at the front.

The gun was the property of the soldier boy while resident here and used by him when at home. However, the gun is to be raffled off at E. G. Paddon's store on November 30th, and Mr. Paddon has kindly donated a box of shells to go with the gun.

Tickets for this raffle are on sale at 181 each. Get in early and get all you can purchase of them.

YATES' HOME AND CONTENTS BURN TO THE GROUND

Furnishings And Winter Supplies
All Destroyed—Fire in English Church

With the commencement of cold weather and furnace fires the season started off this year with two fires, one of which proved very serious and the other fortunately amounting to very little.

On Friday at about noon the J. W. Yates' house went up in smoke, and both it and its contents, including all the personal belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Yates and family, also considerable of the winter's supplies, were completely burned to the ground.

At the time the fire started Mr. Yates was around town on his regular business, while Mrs. Yates was out attending to the cattle, leaving nobody in the house but the children, and the supposition is that the children had been playing with matches or other inflammable material in the bedroom where the fire broke out.

The fire alarm was immediately turned in, but owing to the inflammable nature of the house, the start the fire had made and the high wind blowing, the building was a mass of flames before the department arrived. Two streams of water were turned on, but it was found impossible to save anything, except two or three articles of furniture. The house, contents and personal belongings were almost a total loss.

Insurance to the amount of $1900 was carried on the house and contents. A popular subscription was circulated shortly after the fire and over $100 was collected for the unfortunate family.

Major Bagley of Calgary, spent Sunday in town after a recruiting campaign in Glendon.

Pte. Bob Sinclair of the 211th American Legion was in town over Sunday shaking hands with old friends.

J. H. Weaver, after a long series of trials and tribulations in Calgary, and with Calgary and provincial officials, arrived in Bassano on Friday last week to look over his various belongings and make arrangements for selling everything off. John looks too much like a saint to be guilty of the accusation of relinking liquor.

Rev. W. S. Brooks will take as his subject on Sunday morning "The Work of The Bible Society," and in the evening "The Songs of The Servant."

Jack Torgan was across the Red Deer river the fore part of the week fraternizing with the merrymen folks of Hutton.

Felix Warren of Fvov came in to town on Tuesday's stage to spend a little of his hard-earned cash after taking care of a good crop.

F. D. McNaughton of Brooks, came up to Bassano a good square of times this week to get a good square meal at the Hunter hotel. On his Tuesday trip he was accompanied by A. S. Dawson, chief engineer of the C.P.R.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawkins of Calgary, have been spending a few days in town, prior to a trip to California some time next month. If they have enough money left in the Spring they will return to make enough for another trip.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bramley spent the week in Glendon taking in the sights.
